Two kilograms of cocaine seized

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Two Louisiana and one Alabama resident have been arrested in connection with the seizure of two kilos (4.4 pounds) of cocaine from a vehicle on US-90 in Bay St. Louis on Friday.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said, Charles F. Fourroux, 36, 1016 Julien St., New Orleans; Albert D. Venable, 38, Rt. 5, Scottsboro, Ala.; and Raymond J. Palaffolo, 1400 Velma St., Metairie, La. are being held in the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility in connection with the cocaine seizure.

The three are charged with possession and intent to deliver and sell the cocaine, Peterson reported.

The trio may also face federal charges, as a U.S. Attorney is being contacted in the matter, an arresting officer indicated Friday evening.

In an initial appearance hearing before Hancock County Justice Court Judge Joe Dobson Saturday morning, bond was set at $500,000 for each suspect.

A preliminary hearing is scheduled for September 14.

Fourroux was the driver of a 1987 Blazer in which the cocaine was seized, Peterson stated. He said Venable was a passenger in the vehicle.

They were traveling west in the vehicle and Palaffolo was the driver of a 1979 Chevy station wagon when the vehicles were stopped by officers.

The arrests were made after a three-month investigation involving the Drug Enforcement Agency, Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics, U.S. Customs, New Orleans and Hancock County Sheriff's office.

Also seized were a 1987 Blazer, 1979 Chevy station wagon and a .38 caliber darringer.

Peterson and Hancock County Criminal Investigator Glen Strong from the sheriff's office assisted in the arrests.

Sheriff's department confiscates marijuana

By DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Sheriff's Department has confiscated marijuana plants from a wooded area in Kiln.

According to Criminal Investigator Glen Strong, the plants have an estimated street value of $5,000.

Strong said two deputies, John Eddie Thornton and Matt Karl, received information Friday that there were marijuana plants growing off Highway 603 near C.C. Road.

The deputies investigated and confirmed that there was a number of plants growing in the area and then confiscated them.

No arrests were made because of the location of the plants, Strong explained. He said there were no residences near the site.

The investigation is continuing with Strong in charge.

Bay police seeking robbery suspect

By DENA BISNETTE

Bay St. Louis authorities are seeking a man who robbed a Burger King restaurant manager at gunpoint Saturday morning.

According to Bay Police Investigator David Murtagh, the robbery occurred at about 4:20 a.m. when an assistant manager at the restaurant unlocked the back door to let his night employees out and found an armed man waiting for him.

Murtagh said the robber was described as a black male, 5 feet, 10 inches to 6 feet tall and weighing 190 to 200 pounds with a stocking over his face.

The man was wearing blue jeans and a black t-shirt at the time of the robbery.

The investigator said the gun was a blue-steel revolver, possibly of a small caliber.

Murtagh said the witnesses told him the robber put the gun to the manager's head and ordered everybody to lie on the floor, which they did.

He then ordered the employees to crawl into kitchen area and put all of them except the manager into a walk-in freezer; had the manager open the safe and give him the money inside; then put the manager in the freezer as well.

Murtagh said the employees stayed in the freezer about 15 minutes and then let themselves out by using an inside door handle.

The investigation is continuing with Murtagh in charge.

REAL VIEWS ON REAL ESTATE

Dr. Dennis Tosh is holder of the J. Ed Turner Chair of Real Estate at The University of Mississippi
By Dr. Dennis Tosh

Question: Would you please explain the workings for the Farmers Home Administration? S.W. Tupelo.

Answer: Dear S.W.:

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) was originally organized to make loans to farmers to help finance farms and farm operations. As government has grown larger, however, and as the number of farmers has decreased, FmHA has changed its mission.

It now sees itself as a rural and small-town community development agency. In this role it still makes loans to farmers, but it also lends, or guarantees the lending of private institutions, for everything from home financing to the development of ski resorts.

For example, in keeping with its earlier purpose, FmHA can lend to assist farmers buy land, refinance debts, construct, repair or improve buildings, and help them establish farm-based side businesses to supplement the income they earn from farm operations. These farm loans must be secured by a pledge of real estate.

FmHA will lend up to 100 percent of the value with an amortization period of 40 years. Interest rates charged for these mortgages are quite favorable to the borrower, and in some cases interest rate subsidies are available.

Under FmHA's single-family housing programs, the agency can lend up to 100 percent of the value to help low to moderate-income American citizens, not necessarily farmers, buy, build, improve, repair or rehabilitate rural homes. As with most of FmHA's programs, interest rate subsidies are also available to certain limited resource borrowers.

Although the FmHA is not nearly so well known as the FHA, its real estate lending activities cover a greater variety of programs and FmHA is by far the largest government agency that directly accepts mortgage loan applications.

For American citizens who want to buy, build, renovate or develop real estate in rural areas and small towns, the Farmers Home Administration has proved to be a good place to find a sympathetic ear.

Courage To Begin Again

John Callender was an officer under George Washington in the revolutionary War. He failed miserably during the battle of Bunker Hill and was dismissed from the army for behaving as a coward. On his papers, General Washington wrote: "Cowardice—most injurious, and the last forgiven."

To his credit, Callender allowed his shame and embarrassment to move him to try to overcome the past and redeem his good name. He reenlisted in the army as a private and so conducted himself at the Battle of Long Island that Washington reinstated him as a captain and revoked his earlier sentence.

May Callender's failure and ensuing success encourage all of us. No person escapes episodes of weakness, failure and humiliation in this life. Sin is experienced in all of our lives. Paul said, "For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God." (Romans 3:23) Those with the courage to begin again are people to be admired.

Sin makes cowards of many people. The devil degrades us to the extent of causing us to deny the fact of sin. The tendency to be defensive and filled with false pride increases. James teaches, "...God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble...be afflicted, and mourn, and weep; let your laughter be turned to mourning and your joy to heaviness. Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he will lift you up." (James 4:6, 9-10)

David, the King of Israel, took the wife of a soldier and had him killed by the Ammonites by withdrawing from him in battle. In the process, he was guilty of adultery, murder, and lying.

Though we can be forgiven, we must reap what we sow. Nathan pointed out David's sin to him. David repented. Nathan also told David the consequences of his sin. He said, "Wherefore hast thou despised the commandment of the Lord to do evil in his sight?...Now therefore the sword shall never depart from thine house; because thou hast despised me, and hast taken the wife of Uriah, the Hittite, to be thy wife." (II Samuel 12:9-10)

David repented. He said, "I have sinned against the Lord." (II Samuel 12:13) He further said, "Have mercy upon me, O God, according to thy loving kindness; according unto the multitude of thy tender mercies blot out my transgression. Wash me thoroughly from mine iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin. For I acknowledge my transgressions; and my sin is ever before me." (Psalms 51:1-3)

Though the sword never left his house, David served the Lord. The Lord through Samuel deposed Saul from the kingdom. Samuel said, "But now thy kingdom shall not continue; the Lord hath sought him to be a man after his own heart..." (I Samuel 13:14)

How was he a man after God's own heart? When he sinned, he repented. He continued faithful to God.

Have courage to repent and begin again.

Part Two in a series on divorce

Equally as important as determining the cost of raising a child for child support purposes is the allocation of those costs between the parents.

When allocating the costs, remember that child support isn't entirely monetary. The parent with whom the child is living provides some in-kind services such as preparing food and washing clothes and is also considered support.

The incomes of both parents are considered in determining how much each parent will pay.

If both parents are employed, child support may be allocated in proportion to the parents' respective incomes.

To determine this, divide the father's income by the total income of the mother and father and the mother's income by the total income of the mother and father.

The sum of the equation is the percentage of income as is the percentage of support that particular parent will be responsible for.

Another type of support to be considered in a divorce situation is spousal support. This support is payments made after divorce by one spouse to the other spouse. It may also be referred to as alimony or maintenance.

There is no automatic right to spousal support. It's awarded when one of the spouses has no means of support and is usually temporary to give the spouse time to become employable.

To determine whether or not one spouse should pay the other spousal support, consider the earning capacity of each and what happened to the earning capacity of each during the marriage.

Look at present earnings. If both are employed and have similar incomes, there is most likely no need for spousal support.

If one spouse is unemployed and health or family responsibilities will not hinder employment, estimate the probable salary by checking the newspaper or talking with the State employment office.

In addition to the present earnings of husband and wife, consider what these earnings will be in five or ten years.

Estimate also the income from pensions, Social Security, and investments that will be available for each spouse after retirement age.

For assistance in determining a fair amount of spousal or child support, contact the consumer Money Management Center at 388-4710.

Today is the middle of the long Labor Day Weekend and there are still many activities underway in the area.

A big item on tap tonight is the Annual Waveland Civic Association's Fireworks Spectacular in cooperation with the Cities of Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

The fireworks are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. at the Garfield Ladner Memorial Fishing Pier.

Because of the location of the pier, viewers should be able to see the fireworks from great distances along Beach Boulevard.

And a big event today through Labor Day will be the Annual Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon.

The telethon, co-sponsored by the Waveland Civic Association, was a special project of the late Jimmy Lagasse for ten years.

Louie Smolensky, who helped Jimmy over the years, has some big shoes to fill as the local chairman for Hancock County and West Harrison County.

Louie will be joined by many volunteers, two of whom I would like to mention—Irene Giaconi, telephone solicitor, and Les Galivan, promotions chairman.

The local telethon solicitations will be from 6 p.m. Sunday through 6 p.m. Labor Day. Persons wishing to make a contribution may call 467-4134, 467-9248 or 467-9249.

Smolensky told me Friday he would like to, in a way, dedicate this telethon to the late Jimmy Lagasse and is hoping to top last year's local contributions.

Help is always needed and appreciated at telethon headquarters in Waveland City Hall.

If you would like to do some telephone solicitating for MD, just drop by the headquarters, Smolensky said.

The battle against Muscular Dystrophy continues and it is hoped some day a cure can be found, and only through research is this possible.

It is hoped that everyone will help in whatever way they can.

Along the sports scene in our area will be the Lipton Regatta at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club which will conclude on Labor Day.

The Lipton Regatta has been held many years at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club and this will bring Gulf Yachting Association members to our community.

Bay-Waveland Yacht Club will be represented by helmsmen Marc Eagan, Randy Santa Cruz, Dennis Stieffel and Peter Merrifield.

There will be many residents viewing the races from the shoreline in the Cedar Point area today and tomorrow.

We wish Bay-Waveland sailors luck.

A new event in our area is the Bay Cove Marina's In-Water Boat Show.

The show will be from noon to 6 p.m. today.

Bay Cove Marina is located near the mouth of the Jourdan River.

Signs are posted in the area directing one to the marina.

We hope to see you at the In-Water Boat Show.

Poor customer relations negates 'buy locally' promotion efforts

Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

Recently I purchased a big-ticket item from a local retailer. The merchandise arrived at my home in an unacceptable condition.

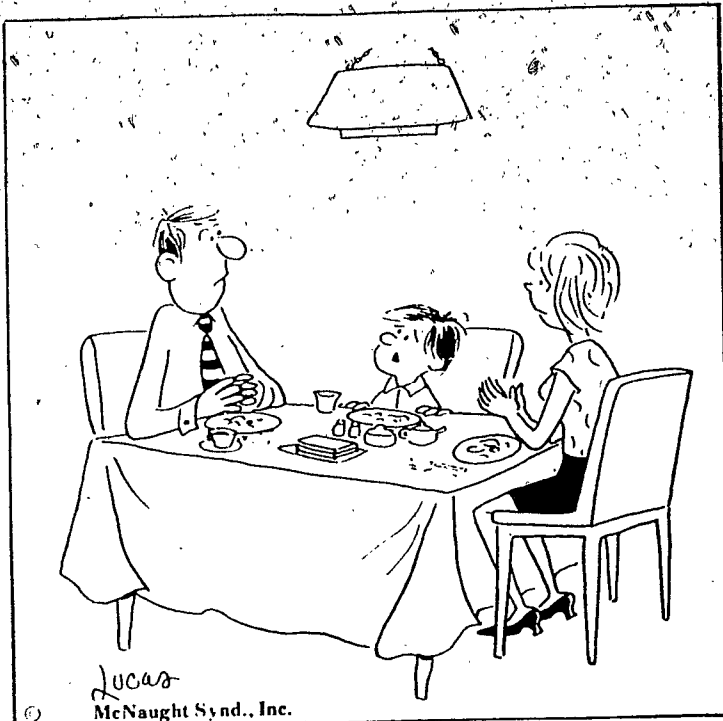

When I telephoned the store to inquire what was to be done to remedy this, I was very rudely told there was nothing that could be done and the clerk hung up on me.

After speaking with many others, I find that they too have experienced this same treatment at various other business places.

We are urged to buy locally, keep the money in the community.

If the merchants want us to buy locally, it seems they need to step back and take a long hard look at how they deal with their customers. I do know it will be a long time before I buy locally again.

Sincerely,
Alice Winchester

Neshoba's conversion to unit system detailed in report

Neshoba County's conversion last year to the unit system of government is detailed in a Mississippi State University political scientist's report now available to the public.

"Converting to the Unit System: The Neshoba County Experience" was produced by Dr. William "Marty" Wiseman with support from the Governmental Services Division of the Mississippi Research and Development Center. Single copies are free, but there will be a small charge for two or more.

The report had its beginning in July of 1984 when the Neshoba County Board of Supervisors voted unanimously to do away with the beat system of government and to replace it with a so-called "complete" unit system. This ultimate form of the unit system is characterized by centralized management of governmental services and functions.

The beat system under which the county had operated—and under which most other Mississippi counties still do—featured a decentralized form of county government, with five supervisors responsible only for the "beat" in which they were elected.

In January of 1986, supervisors requested the assistance of MSU in developing a new organizational structure and in "documenting the Neshoba County experience... (to) provide guidance and assistance to other Mississippi counties in similar circumstances."

A Kosciusko native who holds four academic degrees from MSU, Wiseman said the 112-page report "not only traces the conversion process, but also details the cost savings and other positive results occurring to Neshoba County."

He added: "In addition to reviewing actual circumstances as they evolved in the county, the report presents basic concepts of public administration as they apply to local government. It also includes an evaluation of these concepts and a presentation of ideas based on Neshoba's experiences which may serve either as recommendations or points of discussions in other counties."

Wiseman, honored for "outstanding service" by county supervisors last November, said the report documented how, even in its early stages, the conversion offered a potential annual savings of at least $406,000. As a result, supervisors voted to cut individual property taxes for the 1987 fiscal year.

"In most cases, this reduction in taxes was 15 percent or greater," he said, "yet the resources available currently will be quite sufficient both to offset the loss of federal revenue sharing funds and to continue the expansion of the service delivery capabilities."

Though none is yet as extensive as the effort in Neshoba County, Wiseman said the MSU political science department is currently involved in various administrative assistance programs with several county and city governments in the state.

Copies of the Neshoba County report can be obtained by writing in care of Dr. Marty Wiseman, Department of Political Science, Drawer PC, Mississippi State, MS 39762.

MEC Mississippi Economic Council

Economic development, the key to Mississippi's future, is dependent upon the leadership skills of men and women in the state now becoming aware of their potential, said the chairman of the state's largest business organization.

Kenneth Milam, chairman of the Mississippi Economic Council, said leadership training is insurance that the state's economic development efforts will continue at an aggressive, productive level.

To encourage leadership training in communities throughout the state, the Mississippi Economic Council is sponsoring a seminar

Sept. 24 on organizing and developing community leadership training programs.

The conference will offer step-by-step instructions for developing or expanding leadership programs. Several communities in the state have followed the lead of MEC's statewide Leadership Mississippi Program in establishing programs to identify, train, and encourage potential leaders.

The conference and the accompanying manual on establishing leadership programs that will be distributed at the conference are designed to increase the number of community programs and get more areas of the state involved in leadership skills training.

"Strong leaders are necessary to ensure the success of the state's current and future economic development efforts. The state's leadership, in the private and public sectors, is the key to economic development success and we want to train as many leaders as possible and encourage them to participate in this effort," Milam said.

Keynote speaker for the conference will be Dr. James Hefner, president of Jackson State University and chairman of MEC's Leadership Mississippi Committee.

All aspects of establishing a successful leadership training program will be covered in the one-day conference.

Cost for the program is $30, which includes the training manual, continental breakfast, lunch, and refreshments. Nancy Dear, director of Leadership Mississippi, is handling registration at the MEC office, Box 1849, Jackson, MS 39215-1849. (601) 969-0022.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—The untold story behind the recent Democratic gubernatorial race is how deeply Gov. Bill Allain became involved in the unsuccessful campaign of millionaire planter—motel chain owner Mike Sturdivant.

Outwardly, Allain was saying all along that he was taking no part in the governor's race, while behind the scenes he became, as one insider said, "up to his eye balls" in Sturdivant's campaign.

Allain started out merely giving advice to Sturdivant from a distance in the first primary. But by the runoff Allain became a participant in strategy sessions with Sturdivant at the candidate's suite in a north Jackson motel owned by Sturdivant's company.

Those close to the scene say Sturdivant would never have gotten into the gubernatorial race to begin with had it not been for the encouragement he got from Allain.

A group of about 30 key backers of Allain had begun probing for a candidate in January in the event Allain would not run. Sturdivant was well down the list of those they were considering.

However, as one member of that group says, "We didn't know then, but we soon learned, Sturdivant was Allain's first choice." Eventually, the Allain core group became fragmented. While more of them did finally support Sturdivant, others split off, some even winding up supporting State Auditor Ray Mabus.

As early as last February, wealthy automobile dealer Bill Watson, one of Allain's biggest financial backers, went to Sturdivant and urged him to make the race.

At the time, Watson was still saying publicly that he was hoping that Allain would seek re-election. Watson, meantime, had also been dicker with State Auditor Ray Mabus to possibly support him.

However, Watson and Mabus never came to a meeting of minds. As to why, there are two versions. Mabus says he couldn't agree to Watson's terms, and Watson says he preferred instead to support a businessman, namely Sturdivant.

Some Allain insiders say, however, that Allain had a lot to do with discouraging Watson from backing Mabus. Although there had been no specific animosity between Allain and Mabus, the two had never gotten along very well as part of the same administration.

It is apparent that Allain disclosed to Sturdivant his definite intentions not to run long before the governor's plans became widely known. From the beginning, Sturdivant, who had become an Allain ally on the Fiscal Management Board—said publicly he would not run if Allain ran.

The earliest substantial piece of evidence that some quiet arrangement existed between Allain and Sturdivant was back in the spring when Allain's long-time pollster, Dick Morris of New York and Key West, began polling for Sturdivant.

Sturdivant confirmed to this column in May that he had discharged Bill Hamilton, the Washington-based pollster who had worked for him in 1983, in order to bring Morris on board.

In the wake of Sturdivant's disastrous second primary loss to Mabus by a whopping 30 percentage points, Morris' role in the debacle has become a very sore subject with Watson and some other major backers of Sturdivant.

Morris evidently came up with a poll just a few days before the runoff showing Sturdivant only 4 percent showing points behind Mabus, with enough undecided to put the outcome in doubt.

Since Morris was paid an estimated $400,000 for his services in the campaign, Watson and others in the Sturdivant camp are furious about Morris' obviously misleading figures.

In fact, Watson, who is also involved in Louisiana politics, is reportedly determined to keep Morris from becoming associated with anyone he backs in the Louisiana governor's race.

It is significant that Jackson and Indianola attorney Champ Terney, considered Allain's closest adviser, wound up in the Sturdivant camp after initially giving lip service to Atty. Gen. Ed Pittman.

Terney, who has gotten some of the fattest bond attorneys deals out of the Allain administration, may wind up with a new law partner next January. His name is William A. Allain.

Changes in American workforce

The latest national reports that show a scarcity of workers might come as news to those waiting in unemployment lines, but it is indicative of the changes in the American workforce.

To be willing to work is no longer assurance of finding a job. A higher education level and skills training is now required for almost any type job.

The Aug. 10 edition of 'Business Week' magazine reports that a slower-growing population is sending the country into a period of labor scarcity that could last until the turn of the century.

Many jobs today require more education and training than traditional jobs in shrinking blue-collar industries and the schools have not kept up with the change, the magazine reported.

Nationally, unemployment remains in the double digits for minorities and teenagers, but for white men it is 4.9 percent. The rate is 2.4 percent for managers and professionals, and 2.6 percent for executives and administrators.

This trend in the workforce emphasizes the importance of education reform, an area to which Mississippians have given their commitment.

Students must receive a quality education and stay in school to avoid the unemployment lines. A dropout with little skills training no longer has a place in the workforce.

Education has become the key to success in any field. It no longer is a requirement for professional jobs only. It is a requirement for receiving a paycheck.

County Agent's Notes

By Lee Taylor

Over the past two weeks I've gotten 15-20 calls on web spinners. Web spinners are small beetle-like insects that spin webs completely around the trunks of water oaks.

If you've never seen them it's quite a shock. The entire trunk is encased in a web that looks like ice or snow on the tree. The web spinners will not kill a tree and are feeding on dead bark and decaying organic matter.

They really don't have to be treated but if it makes you feel better use an insecticide like Malathion, diazinon or sprayable sevin. Spray the web thoroughly and this will usually kill all the insects. This insect usually appears in cycles of about four years.

I haven't had a call on them since fall of 1983. If you have a question concerning this pest just call me at the office.

GARDENS

Gardens have really suffered this year from the heavy rainfall we've had this summer. People are complaining that they just are not getting any vegetables on their plants. This lack of fruit set is caused by lack of pollination. Frequent rainfall washed off the pollen and fruit set doesn't occur. Also many times the plant response to adverse growing conditions by not setting fruit or shedding blossoms. Just don't despair. Your garden abilities are I'm sure quite good, but we can't control mother nature.

YELLOWJACKET CONTROL

Have you ever been stung by a yellowjacket? You'll know it if you have.

Several species of yellowjackets live in Mississippi and most of them build underground nests in creek banks, forest floors, flower beds and gardens. If colonies of yellowjackets are found, they must be controlled before many unsuspecting people who garden or mow grass accidentally step on them or disturb the nest.

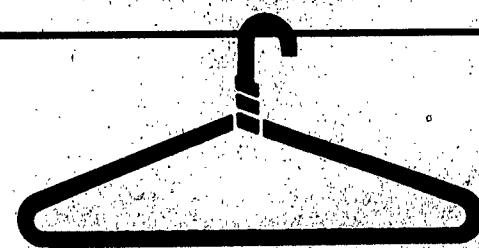

Practice good control by applying an insecticide directly down the entrance hole in the soil. After dark, carefully apply about one quart of 1 percent propoxur or dichlorvos, or about two tablespoons of 5 percent carbaryl dust down the hole. Plug the hole with insecticide-saturated cotton to kill yellowjackets returning to the nest.

New format set for Bay council meetings

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

The Bay St. Louis City Council will follow a new format beginning Tuesday at the first council meeting of the month.

Following opening to the meeting, in the new format, a public forum will be conducted to allow comments, complaints, requests or any other statements citizens wish to make to the council.

Newly elected council president John Wilkerson requested the agenda change to allow citizens a chance to speak at the beginning of the meetings.

In the new format, it is not necessary for citizens to make requests to be listed on the council's agenda.

Also as a new feature at the meetings, all city department heads will be available to answer questions at the council's meetings.

The four department directors include Edward Favre, director of the department of administration; Norbert Redmond, director of the department of public works; Ray Murphy, police chief; and Andrew Lizana, fire chief.

The city council's regularly scheduled meetings are conducted at 7 p.m. on the first and third Tuesdays of the month at city hall on Second Street.

WATER GRANT—Gary Anderson, left, and Damien Mercier, center, both of the Governor's Office of State and Federal Programs Department of Community Development, discuss Waveland's possibilities of obtaining a grant for water system extensions in the northeastern part of the city with consultant Ray Eaton, standing. Anderson and Mercier visited Waveland recently to look at the proposed project site and obtain additional information for the application. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Leverage funds may decide Waveland water grant status

BY DENA BISNETTE

The City of Waveland is one of 70 sites being considered for a Community Development Block Grant, which may depend on what kind of leverage funding the city can provide.

Waveland has applied for grant funds to complete additional water lines in the northeastern part of the city, Mayor John Longo Jr. said.

According to Gary Anderson, a representative of the Governor's Office of State and Federal Programs Department of Community Development, Waveland was one of 70 applicants selected for a site visit.

The proposed project is related to another project, construction of an additional water well, for which the city is attempting to obtain funding from Farmer's Home Administration, Longo added.

This is the second or third year Waveland has applied for CDBG funds for the water line extension project, Longo said. Previous applications have been turned down.

Anderson and Damien Mercier, also of the Department of Community Development, visited Waveland recently to tour the site and to discuss the application with Longo and Jackson-based consultant Ray Eaton of Eaton and Associates.

According to Anderson, the city will probably have to put up additional leverage funds for the project because some sewerage work included as in-kind services will not be acceptable.

Eaton said that one year the sewerage extension work was combined with the water project in the application but was turned down.

He explained that it is difficult to obtain federal funding for any project including sewerage because "they want you to spend the least amount of federal dollars to serve the highest number of people."

Sewerage has a much higher construction cost than a water system extension, Eaton said.

The sewerage extension was then separated into a different project, funded with a Farmer's Home Administration loan and was offered as leverage funds for the CDBG application.

The city's ability to spend other funds on service projects such as those allowed under the CDBG program affects its competitiveness for CDBG monies, which is why leverage funds must be listed in the application.

Because the sewerage was not acceptable, the water project was submitted as leverage.

Eaton said the city was able to obtain a firm enough commitment from Farmer's Home Administration to make the well project acceptable as leverage, although actual approval of those funds has not been made.

The new well is a $1 million project and about $280,000 of that is acceptable as leverage, the consultant said.

"The sewerage would have been more but this is enough to put us on a funding level," Eaton explained.

The consultant explained that the sewerage project is not located in the same area as the proposed water system extension and is not considered directly related, but the well project fits both considerations.

Eaton added that Tuesday was the final day to submit additional grant application information and that it usually is about 30 days before the grant awards are announced.

Some of Waveland's competition for the grant funds comes from Hancock County, which is applying jointly with Pearl River County for $654,615 in funding for a water system and well for two rural water associations designated as Catahoula Water System and Bi-County Water System.

The two systems would serve Catahoula in northern Hancock County as well as Steep Hollow, Savannah and other communities on or near the Hancock County line.

The well is tentatively planned for a donated site in Catahoula.

The application is being submitted for a third time after being turned down twice because one of the counties involved failed to spend a required percentage of a previous CDBG award.

The two water associations are trying to provide $478,650 in leverage funds through Farmer's Home Administration loans.

Last week, Buddy Broadway of Broadway Engineering, who is working on the application with consultant Harvey Nixon of Picayune, told the board of supervisors that the Bi-County system had already received a letter of approval from Farmer's Home Administration; however, approval is contingent on the CDBG award.

On Monday, the supervisors agreed to advertise for bids for construction-related engineering services, although a contract can not actually be awarded unless grant funds are approved.

Public invited to watch fire training

BY DENA BISNETTE

Diamondhead Fire Department will host a two-day training school on dealing with liquid propane gas fires Sept. 28 and 29.

According to Diamondhead Fire Chief Dennis Westbrook, the first day of training will be a classroom session with the second day including demonstrations that the public is invited to watch.

Blossman Gas has donated propane to allow firefighters to practice controlling tank and Christmas tree fires.

"We're going to do the burn in the shopping center parking lot in front of the fire station. It starts at 7 p.m. and we expect to have more than 100 firefighters there," Westbrook said.

The State Fire Academy will assist in the training sessions and fire departments from as far north as Wiggins and Hattiesburg as well as all along the Gulf Coast have been invited to participate.

"This is a good thing to have and it's especially practical for the departments who work out in the country. We have a lot of rural area here in Hancock County and nearly all of the homes have gas tanks," Westbrook said.

A United Way Agency

Goodwill offers Hancock County a first-class secondhand store

Editor's Note: Following is seventh in a series of articles being presented by the Sea Coast Echo on agencies which are partially funded by the United Way of Hancock County. The local United Way is planning a Sept. 25 kickoff for its 1987 fundraising drive. Lonnie Clayborn of Waveland is chairman of this year's drive. The goal is $65,000.

The existence of Goodwill Industries is living proof of the fact that people with disabilities can help themselves with community support.

Goodwill was founded some 85 years ago on the premise that handicapped people need, not charity, but a chance.

It is founded on the belief that handicapped people are first and foremost people, like everyone else, with talents and strengths.

They need only the proper opportunity and they will be productive like the non-handicapped population.

Through its program of collection, repair, and sale of donated items, Goodwill provides jobs and income to the disabled population of our community. It provides them with the opportunity to contribute to their own self sufficiency and the good of the community.

Goodwill is run by a local volunteer board of directors. The present chairman of the board is Basil Kennedy, a Bay St. Louis resident.

Goodwill is affiliated with a national organization, but the local volunteer board is the ultimate directing force behind Goodwill. These men and women channel the efforts of Goodwill in those areas which best fit the needs of the local community.

The bread and butter of the Goodwill operation is the donation of useable/saleable merchandise. Without the donation of these items, there would be no income for handicapped salaries and other business overhead and no training or jobs for handicapped individuals.

These donations come from the generosity of an informed and interested public. It is necessary for Goodwill to bring its message to the public.

Public relations and indeed all types of communication are absolutely essential for the survival and development of the Goodwill movement.

Goodwill is fortunate to have much help in this area. The media are very generous in donating time and talent to this effort. In addition Goodwill is very fortunate to have on its board and among its other friends, people who give time and effort to getting the word out.

A major part of the Goodwill story is its retail sales operation. From the point of view of its finances Goodwill depends about 90 percent on the sale of the donated items that it has collected.

Goodwill has three retail outlets, one in Bay St. Louis, one in Biloxi, and one in Gulfport. These retail outlets like any store, must be conducive to attracting customers, displaying merchandise and in general assisting Goodwill in selling its donated, refurbished merchandise.

Sales personnel are essential, of course, in accomplishing this task. At the same time that they are helping Goodwill to sell, the store personnel are learning a trade and drawing a salary. Trained sales people have acquired a skill that they can use not only now, but also for future development.

Goodwill Inc. of South Mississippi, from the very moment of its founding in south Mississippi served the handicapped of the Bay St. Louis Waveland area and had pick-up service in the area. It wasn't, however, until 1976 that Goodwill opened its first retail store in Bay St. Louis. Since then Goodwill has moved its location two times, to its present location at the Bay St. Louis Mall.

The reason for the moves were to adapt to increased customers and merchandise and to offer a more convenient location to its retail shoppers.

Goodwill has almost tripled its daily sales since it began in Bay St. Louis and has attempted in every way to become a "first class" secondhand store. With the leadership of Angie Morreale, the store manager, and able co-workers, Goodwill in Bay St. Louis has become a proud part of Goodwill in the area, and a community resource.

The United Way of Hancock County received Goodwill into its family in Nov. '76. Goodwill uses the funding of the United Way to provide those services, such as counseling and placement assistance, that could not be funded out of income generated through the sale of donated merchandise.

In addition to funding, the United Way of Hancock County provides access to a network of caring agencies that bring to Goodwill, information, caring, and support.

Self support, as much as is possible, for each handicapped individual, is one of the prime goals of Goodwill.

To make a person independent of welfare and disability assistance, to achieve the self worth that this brings, is one of the prime motivating factors behind the Goodwill movement.

Just as Goodwill is bringing self support to individuals, Goodwill strives to achieve the maximum degree of self support for itself as an organization. In this way it is hoped that the striving for self support becomes a mutually reinforcing venture between individual and organization.

Pressure for achieving goals and quotas, for balancing the bottom line, are seen as beneficial in stretching the individual and organization to achieve their highest potential.

You assist Goodwill by your United Way contribution. You can also assist Goodwill and its handicapped workers by the donation of saleable/repairable items and shopping in Goodwill's retail stores. Thanks to you Goodwill works for all of us.

Irish add full measure of flavor to American 'melting pot'

BY JOE PILET

Faith and b'gorrah! We owe a debt of gratitude to the Irish in our midst. They have enriched our "American Melting Pot" as skilled weavers, spinners, and tellers of tall tales. Their lively dances and jigs speak louder than words of their cheerful spirits. Their optimistic nature, their folk songs have universal appeal, poetry unsurpassed.

Ireland's patron saint, Patrick, introduced Christianity in the 400s and is rightly credited with the establishment of many Roman Catholic Churches. His good works are recognized throughout the United States on March 17—Saint Patrick's Day.

An outstanding Roman Catholic, Father Flanagan, came to the United States in 1904. He was born in 1886 in Ballymore, Ireland. He became a parish priest in O'Neill, Nebraska.

His interest in homeless boys and boys who had broken the laws prompted him in 1917 to borrow $90 with which he rented an old house in Omaha and welcomed boys in need of shelter, food, training and love.

The overflowing home was moved to a 320 acre farm which was later enlarged to about a thousand acres and named Boys Town.

It was incorporated as a village in 1936. By 1950 more than 900 boys lived there. Present population exceeds a thousand!

Father Flanagan proved "there are no bad boys."

He died in 1948 and a beautiful monument was erected in Boys Town honoring his memory. But a more enduring evidence of what Father Flanagan accomplished is the record these citizens of Boys Town have established.

It is true and accurate that in 1840 a blight destroyed the potato crop in Ireland. Thousands of the Irish starved to death. Hundreds of thousands more left the country.

But the Irish potato is a misnomer. Botanists agree that the white potato comes from a specie found in Peru and Bolivia.

Potatoes are now grown commercially in every state. It is the universal vegetable and the United States ranks fifth in its production. Cleave de Leon recorded that potatoes were grown in Colombia and Peru in 1538.

The potato grows so well in Ireland and has such a great food value that the Irish adopted it as their main food.

The luck of the Irish which seemingly ran out during the potato famine was restored when the multitude came to the United States and quickly adapted themselves to the American way of life.

The roads seemed to rise to meet their feet. The winds blew mainly on the backs. With good cheer America welcomed the Irish.

Stanislaus falls to Pope John Paul 20-6

Pope John Paul used the aggressive play of their offensive and defensive units to hammer out a 20-6 victory over St. Stanislaus in a varsity football contest played Friday evening at Rock-A-Chaw stadium.

The Jaguars executed well from their power formations, grinding out three and four yards at a time off tackle and around the end.

Coach Larry Ramsey's defensive unit did a commendable job despite being on the field most of the contest.

Another tell-tale factor in the outcome was the experience of the Jaguars. Pope John Paul had the advantage of several weekly scrimmages with other Louisiana schools in addition to their Salmen Jamboree game with Northshore last week.

SSC was led offensively by the running of halfback Gino Ascani and the pass receiving of split end Freddie Wirstrom.

Quarterback Cedric Smith had to scramble most of the evening to avoid the on-rushing Jaguar linemen, and was sacked several times behind the line of scrimmage as SSC's pass protection broke down.

In the first quarter both teams battled back and forth. Pope John Paul took the initial possession and ground out two first downs before punting to the Rockchaws.

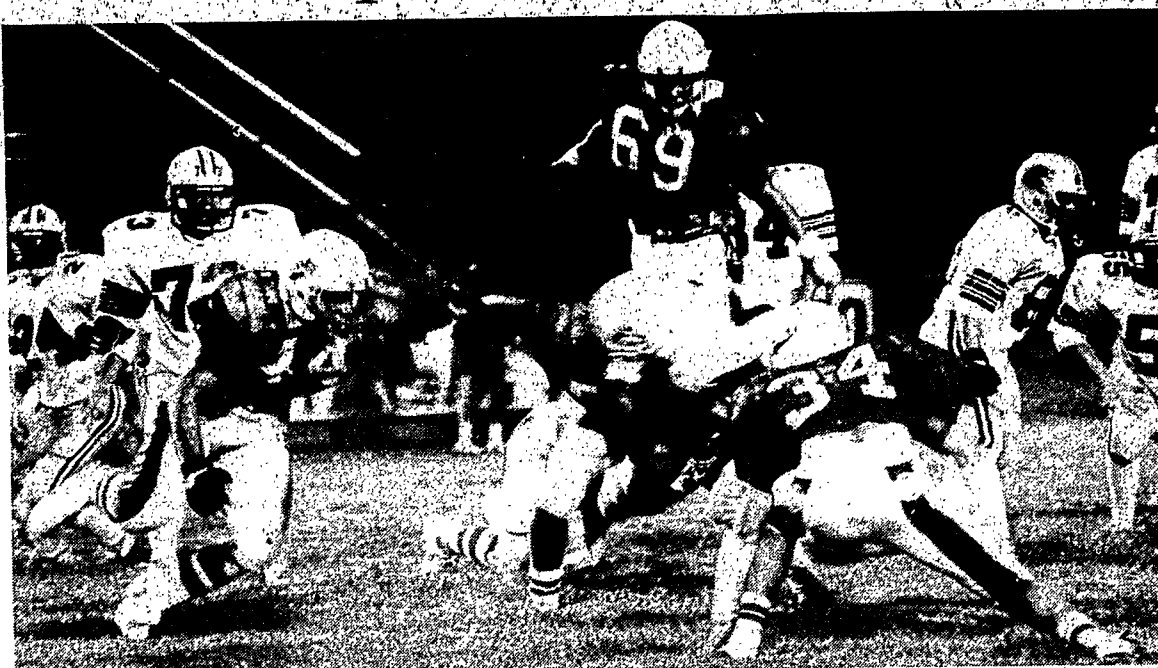

YaSin Shabazz returned the punt to the SSC 31 yard line. Despite several costly penalties, the Rocks moved the football for a first down and faced a third and three situation on their 38 yard line.

Cedric Smith's pass was intercepted by Pope John Paul linebacker Philip Spizale.

From this point, it took the Jaguars nine plays to hit paydirt. The key play in their scoring drive was a 16-yard screen pass from QB Clay Carrell to halfback Darren Ladner who drove down inside the Rock ten yard line.

Pope John Paul fullback Jeff Riviere blasted over his left guard for the touchdown. Scott Roguillo's extra point was good and the Jaguars led 7-0.

Gino Ascani took the ensuing Jaguar kickoff and clawed his way to the SSC 41 yard line. The Rocks came out throwing on first and second down with no success. On third down Smith rolled out to his left and was hit from his blind side by defensive end David Yates, forcing a fumble which the Jags recovered at the SSC 31 yard line.

AFTER BALL CARRIER—Craig Sweeney, No. 69, leaps high in the air as he chases a Pope John Paul ball carrier in action Friday. Other Stanislaus players in action are from left, John Leyser, No. 44, and Jerry Fackrell No. 34. St. Stanislaus dropped their season opener to the Jaguars of Slidell 20-6. The Rocks will be at home when they host the Eagles of St. John next Friday. (SSC photo).

The Rocks were unable to move the football and four plays later Pope John Paul had the ball again on their 45 yard line.

Pope John Paul's offensive line continued to open holes for running backs Riviere and Ladner. When the SSC defense converged in the middle, QB Carrell kept the ball and ran around end for valuable yardage.

With the ball on the SSC 4 yard line, Carrell called his own number once again and swept the right side for the touchdown. With 5:47 left in the half, Pope John Paul led 13-0.

A nice kickoff return by Shabazz gave SSC good field position at their 32-yard line. Facing a third and six situation, halfback Gino Ascani took the pitch on an option play and fought his way down the the Jaguar 46-yard line.

On the best offensive pass play of the evening for the Rocks, Smith threw a deep pass to Freddie Wirstrom who was running a post pattern deep in the middle. The PJP defender had his sights on the ball and actually thought he made the interception, but it was Wirstrom who wrestled the ball out of his hands as they both fell to the ground.

This gave the Rocks their deepest penetration of the evening, a first down at the Jaguar 25-yard line.

The Rocks tried to grind out more yardage, but Ascani was stopped off left tackle and the Jaguars took over.

Pope John Paul could only run one offensive play before the half ended with the Jaguars ahead, 13-0.

The Rockchaws took possession of the ball to start the third quarter as Ascani returned the kickoff to his 37-yard line. Jorge Ponjuan broke through the interior of the Jaguar line on a quick-hitting play and raced 32 yards down to the Pope John Paul 31 yard line.

SSC wasted no time in chewing up more yardage as Smith hit Wirstrom over the middle for a completion, giving the Rocks another first down at the PJP 15-yard line.

On the next play, a miscue on an option pitch by Smith to Ascani resulted in a fumble, recovered by the interior line of Pope John Paul at the Jaguar 21-yard line.

At this point, the Rock defense once again rose to the occasion. Linebacker Jim Bradley intercepted an errant Carrell aerial and returned it to the Jaguar 25-yard line.

Once again the Rocks went to the air, and Smith's pass was intercepted by Dean Aguilar of the Jags, as Pope John Paul again stopped a Rockchaw scoring threat.

SSC's defense held their ground and forced the Jags to punt. Carrell shanked the punt off the right side of his foot giving the Rockchaws excellent field position at the PJP 37-yard line.

Smith went to the air immediately and hit end Mike Vegas for an 11-yard gain. Ascani put the Rocks on the board with a sweep around the right side of the line for a 26-yard scoring jaunt. Mike Vegas' extra point attempt was blocked and the Rocks closed the gap to 13-6 with a little over two minutes left in the third quarter.

Darren Ladner of the Jaguars returned the kickoff to his 26-yard line. A face-mask penalty against the Rocks, and a 53-yard blast by fullback Jeff Riviere gave Pope John Paul excellent field position at the SSC 21-yard line.

Coach Ramsey once again called on his defense to rise to the occasion. They did, as the interior of the Rockchaw line forced a Jaguar fumble, which the Rocks recovered on their own 19-yard line as the third quarter ended.

Jorge Ponjuan blasted up the middle for a nine yard gain. Smith rolled out to pass on second down and was sacked, and his third down pass attempt to Mike Vegas fell incomplete.

One of the evening's highlights for the Rocks was the punting of Hank Winters. A booming 43-yard punt was downed on the Pope John Paul 39-yard line.

A quarterback sneak by Carrell accounted for the final Pope John Paul touchdown. Carrell added the extra point to put the Jaguars ahead 20-6.

Next week the Rocks entertain a strong squad from St. John of Gulfport with kickoff slated for 7:30 p.m. at Rock-A-Chaw stadium.

GROUNDING YARDAGE—Jorge Ponjuan, No. 20 for St. Stanislaus grinds out a few yards in the season opener for the Rock-A-Chaws Friday. Quarterback Cedric Smith, No. 10, checks Ponjuan's gain. Pope John Paul's Jaguars defeated St. Stanislaus 20-6. Next Friday the Rocks will host the St. John Eagles of Gulfport. (SSC photo).

CATCH OF GAME—Freddie Wirstrom of St. Stanislaus goes high in the air over a Jaguar defender for a key reception for a first down deep in Pope John Paul territory Friday night. The Rocks feel to the Jaguars 20-6 for the season opener at Rock-A-Chaw stadium. (SSC photo).

Hawks start season with 34-0 shutout over Pearl River Rebels

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock North Central Hawks started their 1987 season by shutting out a Louisiana team, the Pearl River Rebels, 34-0 Friday.

The Hawks showed both their offensive and defensive power during the game, which Head Coach Irvin Favre called "one of the best opening games we've had in many years."

Favre praised the Hawks for making "a good team effort" Friday.

"We were pleased with this game. I thought we executed real well and everybody played hard. We also had some real good defense," the coach said.

"The whole team had a good positive attitude."

Favre also tried both his first and second string quarterbacks, Jeff Moran and Ronald Doyle, neither of whom had seen much action the previous year.

"Both quarterbacks did a good job for us," he said.

Hancock kicked off to Pearl River and after several turnovers, the Hawks wound up on their own six yardline, but quickly got out of the situation with six points when halfback Terrence Goff took the ball on the Hawk 20.

Goff, an eighth grader, scored the first touchdown of the night on an 80-yard run around the right side without any of the Rebel defenders touching him.

A pass for a two-point conversion fell incomplete and the Hawks led 6-0 in the first quarter.

In second quarter action, Hancock's second drive of the night was stopped on the Rebel 40 by an interception.

The Hawks took the ball back on downs after the Rebels tried for a pass but failed to complete it.

From the Rebel 26 yardline, the Hawks drove down to the nine, where a quick pitch to the right from Moran to Vincent Cuevas resulted in a touchdown and another six points for Hancock North Central.

The Hawks tried for two and got it, upping the score to 14-0 for the home team.

Early in the second half, the Hawks used their first possession to force their way to a first and goal on the Rebel two, then the quarterback handed the ball back to Cuevas.

Cuevas made a quick dash across the line for his second touchdown of the night, then Larry Beech kicked for an extra point to bring the score to 21-0 in favor of Hancock.

Henry Smith of the Hawks ended Pearl River's next drive by recovering a Rebel fumble, then the Hawks went to work again.

Cuevas took the ball on the Hawks own 26 and made a long run up the middle, scoring another touchdown.

Beech added an extra point with his kick and the score increased to 28-0.

Hancock's last touchdown of the night came on a run by Tirus Jackson. The extra point attempt failed and the final score stood at 34-0.

Next week, the Hawks travel to Carriere to take on the Pearl River Central Blue Devils.

Supervisor
District One
Nov. 3, 1987

The people of Hancock County have not only spoken up, but actually shouted out by using that special gift bestowed upon all Americans, their right to vote. Three incumbent supervisors have been unseated and a fourth retained his seat by a margin of only one vote.

I recently was invited by the Mississippi Home Builders Association to Political Night at our famous Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center. The guest speaker was U.S. Congressman Trent Lott. I had the opportunity to speak to Congressman Lott, and also news reporters from our local TV station (Channel 13), and numerous other Coast political candidates. Through these conversations I could sense that the eyes of the entire Gulf Coast are focused upon Hancock County.

The people of Hancock County indicate they are crying out for a change, and I am here to tell you, the voters of District One, that you still have a chance to let your precious vote work for you again by voting for me, Jim Thornton, who in return, will work for you.

Please weigh my qualifications with that of my opponent and come out and vote in the Nov. 3 General Election.

MRS. MICHAEL JOSEPH PIERCE

Pierce-Levy

Christ Episcopal Church in Whitefish Bay, Wisc. was the setting for the August 8 marriage of Andrea Paige Levy of Milwaukee, Wisc. and Michael Joseph Pierce of Shorewood, Wisc. The Reverend Robert Evans officiated at the afternoon double ring ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Ann Hubbard Levy and Dr. Donald M. Levy, both of Milwaukee. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Pierce of Shorewood.

Nuptial music was presented by James Haller.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of venise lace and satin. The high wedding band neckline accented the fitted bodice and sheer yoke, which was adorned with embroidered lace and seed pearls. The full satin skirt fell from a basque waistline and featured a pyramid lace design on the front and wide lace trim border on the edge of the cathedral train. A wreath of silk flowers and pearl sprays held a fingertip veil of sparkle illusion.

She carried a flowing cascade of gardenias, stephanotis and roses with greenery.

Lynn Michelle Levy attended her sister as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Sheri Schober of West Bend, Wisc.; Joanne

Besatie, Rebecca Schwartz and Nancy Springob, sister of the groom, all of Milwaukee.

The attendants were identically attired in tea length gowns of daphne rose satin, each with off-the-shoulder puffed sleeves and princess line bodice with wide sash at the hip. They carried small cascades of rubrum lilies, blue iris and alstromeria.

William Stevens of Milwaukee was best man.

Groomsmen were William Pierce of Sheboygan, Wisc.; David Springob, brother-in-law of the groom and Ted Balistreri, cousin of the groom, both of Milwaukee; and Kevin McDonough of Los Angeles, Calif.

Ushers were Donald M. Levy Jr. of Washington, D.C., and Gregg R. Levy of Hattiesburg, brothers of the bride; and Jeff Meinhardt of Milwaukee.

Acolytes were Clayton Clavette, step-brother of the bride, and Jennifer Pierce, niece of the groom, both of Milwaukee.

On return from a wedding trip to Jamaica, the couple resides in Milwaukee.

A United Way Agency

Hancock Blood Bank originated in 1953

Editor's Note: Following is the sixth in a series of articles being presented by the Sea Coast Echo on agencies which are partially funded by the United Way of Hancock County. The local United Way is planning a Sept. 25 kickoff for its 1987 fundraising drive. Lonnie Clayborn of Waveland is chairman of this year's drive. The goal is $65,000.

By John D. Rutherford Jr.
Blood Bank Chairman

Hancock County Blood Bank began September, 1953 through Ochsner Hospital in New Orleans, La.

It was originated by the organization then existing in Bay St. Louis with the American Legion Post 139 leading the way.

Some four or five years later Ochsner Foundation got out of the blood bank business and at that time the steering committee of the blood bank found it necessary to contact the American Red Cross out of Mobile, Ala. to serve the county.

Since that date, the Red Cross is still here serving Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties on the Coast.

We estimate since 1960 we have furnished some 500 units of blood per year without any cost to anyone. We estimate we furnished some 13,000 units of blood to Hancock County residents in the last 27 years.

When the blood bank first started we had a blood drive every three months.

At the present time we alternate with the American Legion Post 77 of Waveland who participates with the program.

We rotate every two months between Post 139 and Post 77 and the drawing is always on the second Wednesday of the month.

stitution in recognition of the document's 200th anniversary in 1987.

"South Central Bell has found a unique way of reminding Americans of the importance of this document which established our form of government in 1787," said Santucci.

The bicentennial of the Constitution will be commemorated on more than 1,600,000 South Central Bell directories delivered during 1987 in Mississippi. Santucci said it will appear on the 57 different directories published by BellSouth Advertising and Publishing Corporation for South Central Bell in the state.

A second new convenience feature—a tabbed, scored insert—helps customers easily locate Community Interest Pages, Santucci said.

The directory cover features a graphic depiction of the U.S. Constitution in recognition of the document's 200th anniversary in 1987. "South Central Bell has found a unique way of reminding Americans of the importance of this document which established our form of government in 1787," said Santucci.

Approximately 147,500 Mississippi Gulf Coast "Real Yellow Pages" directories will be delivered over the next two weeks, Santucci added. After this time, directories can be obtained by calling the South Central Bell Business Office.
